

Welcome

Welcome to the second issue of Networks of One's Own: three takes on taking care. This publication has three strands:

- Print
- Digital (USB)
- Digital (Web)

If you are reading this, it means you are accessing either one of the digital versions. The logic behind them is similar: using distribusi, a content management system for the web that produces static index pages based on folders in the filesystem, we were able to package our publication in a manner that is not only accessible, but also faithful to the various workflows of the documented projects.

This means that each page represents a different folder, and for each page you visit, you see all the files (.html, .txt, .md, .jpg, .png, .pdf, etc.) that the folder contains.

If you are reading this on a USB stick, you have the advantage of being able to explore the filesystem used to generate these pages outside of the web browser.

Finally, our printed publication is then generated from within this filesystem layout.

We hope you enjoy navigating through our publication!